

Carl Lippiatt Has 175 Flying Hours To His Credit

Handicap Doesn't Stop Salem Pilot

Carl Lippiatt forgets wheelchair when he's aloft in his new plane.

Although paralyzed from the waist down as the result of a World War II injury, Carl Lippiatt of 1742 N. Ellsworth Ave., has accomplished what a lot of other persons often longed to do. Lippiatt, despite his handicap, has become a veteran flier. He has 175 flying hours to his credit, having first started flying in April, 1956.

He admits that his first solo flight was "rough" but he is now extremely relaxed as he soars about the Salem district in his new plane, a Farney Air-coupe. The only special controls installed for him in his airplane is a hand brake.

Carl, who is 46, operates a small machine shop at his home as a vocation but flying affords him his greatest pleasure.

How does Lippiatt get into his plane? A hoist attached to the edge of the hanger at the H. and B. airport on the Ellsworth Road lifts Carl from his wheel chair and gently lowers him into the plane.

Carl's enthusiasm for flying has "rubbed off" on other members of his family. His four children also can fly. They are Richard, who is 21; Lois, 19; Paul, 17, and Sam, 16, all of whom have solo licenses.

Carl's wife, Margaret, enjoys a trip in the plane but hasn't aspired to becoming a licensed pilot. Not yet, at least.

Amish Murder Suspect Hunted

Illinois Police Search River Area For Youth

LACON, Ill. (AP) — Authorities searched the Illinois River area here today for a baby-faced 20-year-old youth wanted in Ohio in connection with the murder of an Amish farmer.

A search party of 20 police officers aided by a bloodhound combed the river area near Lacon for one or possibly two men—one of them believed to be Michael Dumoulin, of Wooster, Ohio.

Constable Emery Baldwin, 50, was hit by gun fire Saturday when he investigated a reported break in at a cottage on the Illinois River just north of here.

Marshall County Sheriff Jay Evans said he believed Dumoulin, described by Ohio authorities as about 5-foot-6 with juvenile court and army records, was involved in the shooting of Baldwin.

The search party Saturday night also was looking for Chester Carter, a slender 20-year-old with dark bushy hair, but Carter turned him over to authorities in Wooster saying he heard a radio broadcast that he was wanted.

Evans said a car with Ohio plates UY704 was found outside the cottage. Ohio state police said the car was stolen after Paul Coblenz, 25, an Amish farmer, was shot at his home near Mount Hope, Ohio, Thursday night.

Meanwhile, Holmes County and Wayne County authorities continued questioning Carter, who insisted that at the time Coblenz was shot he was nearby at his grandmother's home in Shreve packing some clothes to leave town.

He said he had promised a judge he would leave town last week when he was fined $100 and imposed a 30-day jail sentence on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Carter was held at Wayne County Jail in Wooster.

Holmes County Sheriff Harry Weiss said he believes the Coblenz killers split up after the slaying and that one of the pair drove the stolen car to Lacon.

Jury Deliberations May Begin On Tuesday

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Opposing lawyers are bringing final arguments to the jury today in the highly charged "Clinton trial" milestone case in the struggle over civil rights.

Afterwards, U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor will instruct the jurors—10 men and two women, all white—on the legal complexities of the trial. Deliberations probably will begin Tuesday.

Awaiting judgment are 10 Tennesseans, one a woman, and John Kasper, 27-year-old Northern segregationist. They are charged with criminal contempt of court.

The U. S. government asserts that the 10 conspired with Kasper to violate a federal court order forbidding interference with desegregation of the high school in the little town of Clinton last fall, and that they committed "overt acts" to keep Negroes out of the school.

The complication lies primarily in the conspiracy section of the government's charge.

In his statement, Taylor will explain to the jurors whether they must find that more than one person "conspired" with Kasper in order to convict him. Lawyers say there have been instances where only one defendant in a conspiracy trial was found guilty.

Kasper is the only one named in this case is six months in jail and $1,000 fine, or both.

Along with the question of the guilt or innocence of the 11 accused people are these questions: 1. Will a white Southern jury convict other whites in a trial growing out of the struggle over segregation?

Juror John T. Reynolds, a bank teller, said when he was being examined for duty, "I don't believe in mixing the races."

Another juror, Herbert F. Hartman, 70, retired businessman, expressed similar feelings.

But both said "yes" when U.S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. asked, as he did of all the jury candidates, "Do you believe the laws and legal orders of this country should be obeyed, even when you don't agree with them?"

2. How will the verdict—which ever way it goes—affect the great debate on civil rights legislation now raging in the Senate?

3. If all 11 defendants are cleared of the government's charge, will the high school in Clinton—storm center of this fierce fight—remain integrated?

Taylor's desegregation order is still on the books, and the injunction restraining anyone from interfering with the school remains in effect.

Burglars Pistol-Whip Aged Cleveland Woman

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three burglars pistol-whipped a 64-year-old woman Sunday night when she pleaded with them not to harm her 76-year-old husband.

The burglars, wearing masks and gloves, broke into the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Lucas Yarnnik. The apartment is above two iron and metal firms, where Yarnnik serves as night watchman.

They grabbed Mrs. Yarnnik and ordered, "Shut up or we'll kill you." When two of them went to the porch to get Yarnnik, she screamed and pleaded with them not to harm him, as he recently suffered a stroke. The third burglar hit her with the butt of his pistol.

The burglars dragged Yarnnik into the living room, but finally yielded to his wife's pleadings that they not tie him up. They bound her hand and foot with friction tape, taken from the offices below the Yarnnik's apartment.

After the burglars fled, Yarnnik released his wife and called police. She was treated at a clinic for a bump on the head.

Heat, Drowning Deaths Mount

Nation's Eastern Half Continues To Bake

By The Associated Press
Another day of hot and humid weather appeared likely for wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today after a weekend of scorching temperatures.

Deaths attributed to the heat and drownings mounted. At least 39 persons drowned as millions flocked to lakes and streams seeking relief from the oppressive heat.

There was some possibility of a little relief in northern Midwest areas but none in the sun-baked areas in the Middle Atlantic states southward through Georgia.

The Eastern seaboard, from Virginia to New York, sweltered in the summer's hottest weather Sunday. Thermometers bubbled past the 100-degree mark in many cities, including Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia.

The 103 reading at Baltimore was near the record 104 for the date. Washington sizzled in 101 heat, the highest reading in the nation's capital in three years. The millions in New York City felt just as hot with a torrid 97.3 degrees, and in Wilmington, Del. the mercury registered 102.

Readings in the 90s were general in many other sections of the country and high humidity added to the discomfort.

Michigan reported 21 persons drowned over the weekend, while in New York there were 10 drownings. There were at least 3 each in Illinois and Colorado and 2 in New Jersey. Two men died in Kansas City, Kan., hospitals after suffering heat exhaustion.

A golfer collapsed and died on a course near Chicago and in New York a man died after a tennis match.

A cool front that had been fairly stationary for several days across northern Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and the northern Great Lakes region started to move southward during the night.

Showers and thunderstorms broke out in a narrow belt from the upper Great Lakes region southwestward into parts of the central and southern Plains.

Goodyear Negotiates With Rubber Union

CLEVELAND (AP) — Representatives of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the United Rubber Workers Union, maintaining customary silence, went into another negotiating session today as a strike deadline approached.

Some 28,000 Goodyear workers at plants in this country have authorized the union negotiating committee to call a strike if agreement is not reached by midnight tonight.

Wages are at issue in contract negotiations being conducted at a Cleveland hotel. Neither company nor union spokesmen would comment on their respective positions.

Carl Baker, president of the 14,000-member Akron Local 2, would say only that "no progress" had been made as he went into today's session.

Goodyear was the first of the five major rubber companies to open wage negotiations, and the Goodyear settlement is expected to set a pattern in the industry. Wages in plants of the five major companies now average between $2.30 and $2.43 an hour.

Unofficial Group Casts Doubt On Wedler's Story

Test To Be Given If Suspect's Account Is Proved True

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill said today Dr. Sam Sheppard will not receive a lie detector test until the "confession" of a Florida prisoner that he killed the doctor's wife is determined to be true.

The governor announced his position after a telegram from the unofficial "Court of Last Resort" headed by mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner, cast doubt upon the validity of a confession by Donald Wedler.

Wedler said he bludgeoned a woman during a burglary on the same night that Dr. Sam's wife, Marilyn, was killed in her Cleveland suburban home. Sheppard, who protested his innocence, is serving a life sentence for her slaying.

Changed His Position
O'Neill, who last week gave permission for a lie detector test to Sheppard, changed his position after receiving this telegram from the Court of Last Resort, an unofficial body created to prove innocent those who may have been wrongly convicted:

"We are still not prepared to take as true the confession of Donald Wedler. But following our examination of him in Florida we admit to a growing conviction that he may well have committed the murder of Marilyn Sheppard. However, no one should form any final opinion on this man until after there has been a lot more investigative work done and until there has been a psychiatric investigation."

"There are some important major conflicts between his story and existing fact. These conflicts may have been the result of drug reactions and attempts to rationalize his acts or just plain deception."

O'Neill pointed out that earlier telegrams from the court said there was not the slightest evidence of deception in Wedler's statement. But the governor said the latest telegram uses the language "or just plain deception."

"This present telegram," O'Neill said, "indicates the tests show he may be guilty of just plain deception."

Discussed Plans With Warden
"I have discussed this with Warden Alvis (of Ohio Penitentiary). It is my opinion and his that until the truthfulness of this confession is determined, there should be no lie detector test given to Sheppard."

O'Neill said he would wire a similar statement to the Court of Last Resort.

The judge who presided at the trial of Dr. Sheppard when he was convicted of murdering his wife in 1954 called on Ohio's attorney general to deny any group the privilege of acting as a "court of last resort" in Ohio.

Justice Raps Proposal
In a strongly worded statement, Judge Edward Blythin termed the test "nothing short of fantastic" and questioned the "ethics and propriety" of such a test by a non-official agency.

But Ohio Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, commenting on Judge Blythin's statement, pointed out that the Court of Last Resort had been invited here by Gov. C. William O'Neill.

"If Gov. O'Neill is inviting them in or is cooperating with them, that's his business," Saxbe declared. He added, however, that he doubted the results would be a basis for a new trial plea even if they were favorable for Sheppard. Lie tests are not acceptable as evidence in Ohio courts.

"The only thing that can free Sam Sheppard is a pardon by the governor," Saxbe said. "If they dig up a new criminal and he is

Audrey Missing, Dead Total 534

Property Damage Over $40 Million

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—The dead and missing from hurricane Audrey's June 27th rampage total 534 persons. Property damage was well over 40 million dollars.

In his latest report, Sheriff Henry Reid said that 328 bodies had been recovered through last week from Cameron Parish (county) and 190 persons are missing. In addition, the hurricane killed at least five in other parts of Louisiana. Texas reported 11 deaths.

Sidney J. McCrory, Louisiana agriculture commissioner, said the state crop loss was 26 million dollars. The General Adjustment Bureau, Inc., said the Louisiana loss in insured property was 11 million dollars. There was no estimate of uninsured property losses.

Some estimates placed oil well damages to rigs alone in the Gulf of Mexico between three and five million dollars.

McCrory said the Louisiana livestock loss was 35,000 animals valued at more than two million dollars.

Texas reported little farm and cattle damage. The Texas Department of Public Safety estimated property damage at six million dollars. Insured property loss totaled $1,500,000.

Workers are continuing to clean up Cameron, preparing for the long rebuilding tasks. The Red Cross predicts that construction will start within six weeks.

5 Hurt, 5 Arrested In Traffic Mishaps

Five persons were injured, none seriously, while five were arrested in a series of seven auto mishaps that took place Saturday and Sunday on neighborhood roads. Two women were hurt when the car in which they were riding collided with a tractor-trailer operated by W. P. Vitkauskas, 26, of Naugatuck, Conn., at the intersection of Rt. 62 and Rt. 14 just south of Canfield Sunday at 11:45 a.m.

The women, Cassie Neier, 81, of Warren, and Mae Massingham, 67, of Canfield were treated at Youngstown South Side Hospital. Mrs. Neier received a fractured left shoulder and scalp lacerations while Mrs. Massingham received lacerations of the head. They were in a car driven by Cloe R. Neier, 64, of Warren.

Canfield state highway patrolmen said Neier was cited for failing to obey a stop sign.

Miss Universe Pageant Was 'Sheer Chaos'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — In any language, this year's Miss Universe pageant boils down to a translation of one word — chaos, sheer chaos.

It developed Saturday night that Miss Peru, queen of the entire pageant, was really only 17—under age by contest rules.

This came not too long after the disclosure that Miss U.S.A. was very much a missus, working on her second marriage, in fact, and was a mother of two — violating another entry rule that contestants must be unmarried.

Officials banished Miss U.S.A.—right into a windfall of publicity—but allowed Miss Peru to keep the title she won over beauties from nearly three dozen countries.

Miss Peru, statuesque Gladys Zender, accepted her diadem gracefully. However, her father, Eduardo Zender, a wealthy Lima industrialist, threw contest officials into another tizzy when he at first refused to allow his daughter to accept promotional trips sponsored by a bathing suit manufacturer and cosmetic firm.

Finally, Zender consented, provided his raven-haired daughter be chaperoned by her mother.

There was also solace for Miss U.S.A.—Mary Leona Gage Ennis of Maryland, who was showered with offers for television appearances and showgirl jobs.

In Baltimore, Mrs. Ennis admitted her marriage to Air Force Sgt. Gene H. Ennis, 28, was her second. Her first, at the age of 14, was annulled, the 18-year-old beauty said.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

If, at the country club of the future, the businessman of the future lifts his drink and boasts he can relax now because his secretary works like a machine, he won't be kidding. She may well be a machine.

In insurance companies and banks are developing a mechanism, a type of compact electric brain, which not only stores information but brings it out when they need it, compares it with other figures and even talks to another machine on the telephone without human guidance.

Victor Riesel

These machines can give each other instructions, follow these orders, and even cope with problems created by the telephoned directions. Such machines are working today.

These electric brains have gone so far past the baby computer era of Univac that the AFL-CIO's White collar union has applied to George Meany's national office for permission to change its name so it can cover the highly trained men and women who will be needed to handle these modern talking machines.

The Office Employees International Union from now on wants to be known as the Office and Professional International Association.

THIS ISN'T the only started union in this international Geophysical year which doesn't quite believe what it sees. There is the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the other radio and television broadcasting craft unions. They're encountering the automatic broadcasting station.

In the past year machines have been developed which handle an entire transmitting mechanism without human hands for 4 hours—switch in programs, move the station into networks to pick up national programs originating in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, cut back to local broadcasting, cut back to network for commercials, back then to local announcements—and finally actually send out bills to sponsors.

We have it from the Electrical Workers Brotherhood that as of May, 1957, there were 3,024 regular AM radio stations. Of these, 1,022 are today authorized by the government to broadcast completely unattended by humans, or to hurl programs into the air unattended for part of the day.

NOR IS THIS limited to small stations. The National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters is now asking for authorization to extend automatic broadcasting to stations operating with power up to 50,000 watts. This would cover the field.

Whole studios can be activated by perforated tape. The billing of sponsors operates by tying the automatic program system to business machine punch cards. These cards are then used for billing.

Not only can automation switch the local station in and out of the network—but there may soon come the day when the network can, from a central office, run hundreds of local stations.

This could be done through individual tones transmitted over lines into individual cities.

THE TONES would be turned into the local station's call letter identification and then bring the stations back into the network for the Perry Como or Dinah Shore of the future.

There will be no scarcity of listeners because we can now make enough radios to permit Mao Tse-tung to distribute one to each of his 600 million people so they can hear some capitalist music while the "flowers bloom."

There is a machine which feeds radio receiving wires and plastics onto an assembly line watched by two men where once 200 workers stood. This line turns out 1,000 radios a day—untouched by any hands from the time the wires and stuff are dumped into a giant selector.

The Electrical Workers report a magic new panel used by giant electric power companies which is so bright no human is needed to tell it how much power should be generated, how much is required and into which lines it should be transmitted.

THE UNION SAYS about a big Ohio plant:

"From a master console in the system dispatcher's office, power production demands are allocated automatically among the company's 13 generating stations comprising some 50 generating units."

Because of this central electric control brain the company's electric power substations are all unattended.

These huge machines simply take orders—literally from the central electric brain which tells them where to dispatch power and how much.

This central console is "so flexible" that it is used for customer billing, system analysis, planning and other tasks in addition to dispatching power.

'Crazy Idealist'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —Bernard Spero, a man who became rich by giving money away.

"I may be a crazy idealist," said Spero, a 63-year-old Chicago business executive, "but I've had the privilege of living a life I believe in—and most people don't get that privilege."

Spero is head of House of Vision, Inc., a Midwest optical firm with 23 branches in five states. His "crazy idealism" has consisted of a profit sharing plan under which he has given away 49 per cent of his firm to his employees.

The firm was small and debt ridden and doing only about $90,000 worth of business a year in 1924 when Spero, a young engineer, took it over. It had doubled its volume by 1938 when Spero decided to distribute 24 per cent of the stock to key employees as a bonus, and to donate another 25 per cent into a trust fund to benefit all employees.

"I had several reasons for doing this," he recalled. "One was selfish. I wanted to build a good organization, and I decided that a human being, since he is a flexible organism, would work twice as hard if he felt he was really getting what was coming to him—and not just a living wage."

"Another reason was my feeling that a man who puts a lifetime into helping build a business really deserves something more than a gold watch after 25 years."

Spero's employees contribute 2 per cent of their salary to the fund. The fund itself, in addition to its share of the dividends, gets 20 per cent of the firm's net earnings before taxes.

Mushrooming business—the firm grossed nearly four million dollars in 1956—has mushroomed the value of the employees' fund with these typical results:

A paraplegic worker who joined the firm in 1944 and gets $90 a week has paid into the fund only $800, but his share is now $12,600.

A $500 a month bookkeeper has contributed $645 to the fund since 1950 but her share now amounts to $7,932.

An $8 a week messenger boy who rose to become a branch manager has paid $2,474 into the fund since 1939 but now has a stake of $41,411.

Spero rewards key employees with annual bonuses, but to keep executives "from hogging the fund" limits their share in it by restricting their contributions to 2 per cent of their first $10,000 in salary.

Cincinnati Ex-Convict Is Shot To Death

CINCINNATI — A shotgun blast after an argument has killed Ben Lee Murphy, 50, of Cincinnati, who had spent 20 of his 50 years in prison.

Police arrested Willie Smith, 45, at his home after the shooting Sunday and said he admitted killing Murphy. No charges were filed immediately.

Officers said Murphy was released in 1952 after serving 10 years of a 10-25 year sentence for robbery. He had also been convicted previously on robbery and burglary charges.

DIES OF CRASH BURNS

PITTSBURGH — Edward Maisterelli, 20, of New Philadelphia, Ohio, died in Western Pennsylvania Hospital here Sunday from burns suffered in a recent auto crash.

ONE OF LUCKY TEN — Mrs. Hana Fainshtein, 77, one of the 10 persons who has been given a permit to leave Russia in the past 10 years, is reunited with her son, Joseph, 55, in Los Angeles, after a 37-year separation. It took 11 years and 500 pieces of correspondence were exchanged between Los Angeles and Soviet authorities. Through an interpreter she said, "Now I want for nothing. I feel around me the love a mother needs. I ask no more."

Adrift 18 Hours, Man Is Saved From Lake

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—"I thought I was a goner," Harry Jennings of Toledo said when the Coast Guard pulled him from Lake Erie where he had been drifting for 18 hours.

The 46-year-old fisherman fell from his 21-foot inboard motorboat last Saturday night and was rescued by a Coast Guard cutter from Marblehead Sunday afternoon. Suffering from shock and badly sunburned, the Coast Guard found him floating in the water 10½ miles east of Kelly's Island.

When he fell overboard, Jennings' boat was being cut loose from a 40-foot yacht which had been towing it for two hours. Both boats were lost in the fog.

Mrs. Jennings, who was also aboard the boat, attempted to pull her husband aboard but his 210 pounds proved too much for her. She threw him a life jacket and he drifted away in the darkness. The other boat, apparently unaware of the accident, pulled away.

Two fishermen discovered Mrs. Jennings at daybreak and took her aboard their craft and into Huron.

Patrolman Dragged 500 Feet By Motorist

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio highway patrolman was dragged 500 feet along U.S. 62 Sunday night when a motorist he had stopped for speeding grabbed his arm and drove away.

Patrolman Michael E. Kijowski, 25, of Girard, said he stopped a car driven by George E. Riggs, 60, of Hubbard. When he reached through the window for Riggs' drivers license the man grabbed his arm and drove off. Kijowski said. The patrolman freed himself and radioed for help.

Riggs was arrested in Hubbard a short time later.

Kijowski was treated at St. Elizabeth's Hospital here for cuts, bruises, a fractured wrist and sprained knee.

Wheat Measure Okay Pushed

Would Let Farmers Grow More Grain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohioans in Congress representing rural areas are pushing for passage this year of a law that would permit farmers to grow more wheat for use on the farm without penalty.

Furthermore, Rep. Henderson (R-Ohio) said today, "I feel that if the bill isn't crowded out by a quick adjournment, it has a good chance of becoming a law."

Rep. Polk (D-Ohio) said he does not want to predict what will happen in view of the civil rights fight that is monopolizing the Senate's time.

But he said that if the legislation does go into effect, "it will help out substantially in our area."

On the Senate side, Ohio Republican John W. Bricker calls the bill important legislation.

The Senate has passed a bill to let farmers grow all the wheat they want, without penalty, so long as they use it for feed, seed or flour for food consumed on the farm.

Another bill has been approved by the House Agriculture Committee and is expected to come up soon for floor action.

The House bill is much less generous than the Senate version. It would permit wheat for farm use to be grown on up to 30 acres of land.

The Senate bill also would permit refunds on penalties paid by farmers for exceeding the present 15-acre limitation for 1954-55-56 crops.

The Senate version is the one that Secretary of Agriculture Benson wants. However, he says he will accept a less sweeping version if necessary.

Commercial wheat growers have opposed the bills, fearing competition from farmers growing their own wheat for seed and feed.

However, Benson says:

"Enactment of the legislation would be another step toward achievement of our objective—that farmers be permitted to operate their farms with a maximum of freedom."

The drought extends from parts of the Carolinas northeastward along the coast into Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, parts of Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

In this area is a major dairy and poultry production industry, built up to help meet needs of the region's vast urban population. The area never produces all the poultry, cattle and hog feed it needs, but this year the deficit threatened to be much greater than normal.

Agriculture department officials said the situation will saddle dairy men and poultrymen with higher production costs, principally from purchase of feeds grown in other areas.

princess Margaret's suitor transferred

LONDON (AP)—The current favorite of Princess Margaret is being transferred to Cyprus within two weeks.

The War Office labeled the change a routine assignment but friends called it a surprise.

Lord Patrick Beresford, 23, a lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards for four years, has completed his tour of duty in Britain and is now due for overseas service, the War Office said.

Rumors last week had his engagement to the 26-year-old princess in the offing. The Daily Express said, "The constant association of his name with the princess has caused the (palace) officials acute embarrassment."

Airman Imprisoned For Refusing To Get Haircut

FUCHU, Japan (AP)—A 20-year-old American airman who objected to getting a "white sidewall" haircut was convicted of disobeying orders today and sentenced to four months at hard labor.

The airman, Donald Wheeler of Cortez, Colo., also was sentenced to one $200 in pay and reduced to the rank of basic airman—private—from airman third class.

Wheeler contended that he had "challenged" an order to get a "white sidewall" haircut because he had received a regulation Air Force trim only the day before the order was given. A "white sidewall" strips the hair from the ears to the crown, leaving only a fringe on top.

After the court - martial board returned its verdict, Wheeler asked: "Can you imagine anybody going to jail for not getting a haircut?"

The charges against Wheeler did not mention haircuts and the Air Force contended it was a "routine" matter of military discipline. The Air Force said the action involved only "disobedience of a lawful order of his superior officer."

The conviction and sentence will be reviewed automatically by higher Air Force authorities. The review could reduce the sentence or order a new trial.

Kenneth Roberts Succumbs At 71

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (AP)—Author Kenneth Roberts, whose best-selling novels brought the drama of the nation's history to millions of readers, died Sunday in this seacoast village of his birth. He was 71.

Roberts, who had been in bed for a week, fell victim to coronary thrombosis. He recently had completed proof-reading "Water Unlimited," a book for October publication.

Roberts first hit the best seller list in 1937 with his "Northwest Passage," a story of French and Indian War days.

Prior to this he had produced a series of romantic novels dealing with the Revolution and the War of 1812. These started with "Arundel" and were followed by "The Lively Lady," "Rabble in Arms" and "Captain Cautious."

Recently a special Pulitzer citation went to Roberts for creating "a greater interest in early American history."

Youngstown Woman Admits Killing Husband

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A 27-year-old woman who admitted killing her husband during an argument is being held by Mahoning County authorities.

Sue Everall told deputies that she shot her husband, Robert Everall Jr., 31, Sunday night with an automatic pistol after he had beaten her. Deputies found Everall's body in the bath room of his Boardman Twp. home. He had been shot four times.

Following the shooting, Mrs. Everall telephoned her father-in-law, Robert Everall Sr., at Sharon, Pa., 18 miles away. He notified authorities.

The couple, married for five years, have a three-year-old son. Everall, an electrical engineer, was employed by the Carlson Electric Co. in Warren.

Brain Power

Based on an endless stream of reports and warnings, the portrait of a general national shortage of engineers, scientists, teachers and other "brain-power specialists" has taken firm shape.

There seems no reason to doubt the authenticity of this portrait, but it is fair to say that many of its details are quite fuzzy.

Consequently the nation must welcome the plan outlined by President Eisenhower's special committee in this field to undertake a thorough-going survey.

As we move ahead in an age that appears to be putting constantly heavier stress on brain power, we clearly cannot afford to be caught short. Since we know the Communist world is straining hard to use every ounce of its brain power, the competition plainly is tough and the free world's survival is at stake.

It will be good to have the Committee's report on exactly how big our shortage is.

Conflicts In The Law

If school children grow up with a skimpy knowledge of American history, it goes without saying they have no knowledge of the Supreme Court at all.

To the extent that blasts against the court come from citizens who bear the handicap of ignorance, their very ignorance explains why they misunderstand what the Supreme Court does, under constitutional government.

Chief Justice Marshall explained the federal judiciary's job in 1803 in Marbury vs. Madison, the first case in which the Supreme Court declared an act of Congress to be unconstitutional. "It is emphatically the province and duty of the judicial department to say what the law is," he ruled, "so if a law be in opposition to the Constitution; if both the law and the Constitution apply to a particular case, so that the court must either decide that case conformably to the law, disregarding the Constitution; or conformably to the Constitution, disregarding the law; the court must determine which of these conflicting rules governs the case. This is of the very essence of judicial duty."

Until this right was asserted, the judicial branch of the government was not co-equal with the administrative and legislative branches. Administrators and legislators to this day begrudge the judiciary its power to invalidate their acts and decisions.

But to this day, the remedy continues to be for legislators to pass better laws when conflicts in existing laws are pointed out — not to attack the judiciary for performing its duty.

No even the most relentless blaster of the Supreme Court can deny that its recent rulings upholding the rights of individual citizens reflect a rebalancing of the legal structure of the United States toward the Constitution and away from expedient laws and administrative rulings which had raised constitutional questions.

This has stirred the ire of critics who never want the Constitution to get in their way when they are scouring their favorite evils but want to use it as a barrier when they, themselves, are scheduled for scouring.

Instead of chanting criticism of the Supreme Court, they should be chanting demands for better laws and better administrative rulings. Why do they prefer to criticize the Supreme Court? Because most of the critics are lawmakers, administrators, or their apologists. They still stick to the idea that Chief Justice Marshall challenged in 1803 — that judges should be held answerable to politicians, not to their judicial duty.

The United States is poorly-prepared to support constitutional government because it is almost totally unprepared to understand what the Supreme Court is doing when it settles conflicts in the law.

News From China

The real reason for the State Department's stickiness about letting American newspapermen go to Red China at will is not necessarily any of the 20 - odd reasons Secretary Dulles says he could recite.

The real reason could be the belief recently expressed by Mr. Dulles that Red China will die on the vine if Americans will be patient; that the Communists cannot hold the Chinese in line indefinitely.

Their chances would be improved by the kind of reporting American newspapermen would do if the U.S. government let them go to China. Although a few would go with the idea of finding nothing but the seamy side of life in Red China, most would be objective in their observations.

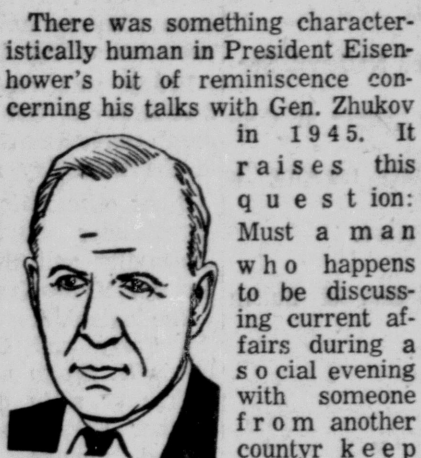

They would find both good and bad, as they have in the Soviet Union. They could disagree wholly with Communist dictatorship as an idea, but they could not disagree wholly with evidence that the Chinese people are making a certain amount of progress under the handicap of dictatorship.

This, of course, would be contrary to the idea that the Communists will die on the vine in China — a point of view uncomfortably like that of the escapist who believes what he does not see will go away if he refuses to look at it.

Polite Eisenhower

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Courtesy Revealed In Remarks About Zhukov

David Lawrence

There was something characteristically human in President Eisenhower's bit of reminiscence concerning his talks with Gen. Zhukov in 1945. It raises this question: Must a man who happens to be discussing current affairs during a social evening with someone from another country keep on a level of politeness and courtesy and refrain from citing facts that would reflect on the other man's government, especially if the other individual is an important diplomatic or military representative of that very government?

As told in the press conference this week, the President admitted he was somewhat flustered when he was arguing with Zhukov on the subject of communism.

The two men had just emerged from a joint military operation that ended World War II and they spent a lot of time together in Berlin.

HERE IS HOW the President tells the story:

"I must say that during the years that I knew him (Zhukov) I had a most satisfactory acquaintance and friendship with him. I think he was a confirmed Communist. We had many long discussions about our respective doctrines. I think one evening we had a three - hour conversation. We tried each to explain to the other just what our systems meant, to the individual and I was very hard put to it when he insisted that their system appealed to the idealistic and we completely to the materialistic and I had a very tough time trying to defend our position, because he said:

"You tell a person he can do as he pleases, he can act as he pleases, he can do anything. Everything that is selfish in man you appeal to him, and we tell him that he must sacrifice for the state."

"Zhukov said: 'We have a very hard program to sell. So what I am getting at is, I believe he was very honestly convinced of the soundness of their doctrine and was an honest man.'"

THE REPORTERS at the press conference felt that this might leave an impression that the President had been devoid of arguments against communism, so James Reston of the "New York Times" asked: "Do you want to leave the inference that it is difficult to defend the proposition that democracy is a more idealistic system than communism?"

To this Mr. Eisenhower replied by explaining further Zhukov's claims about idealism and "sacrifice for the state — giving to the state," and then the President added this comment:

"In other words, he (Zhukov) takes the attitude that they don't force this contribution, they are teaching a people to support that contribution. So, when you run up against that kind of thing — look, Mr. Reston, I think you could run into people you would have a hard time convincing that the sun is hot and the earth is round."

"I don't say that I don't believe it. I am merely saying that against that kind of belief you run against arguments that almost leave you breathless, you don't know how to meet them."

MR. EISENHOWER is a kindly man and, even when shocked by misstatements, doesn't speak words of criticism to persons he is meeting socially, especially in the diplomatic world.

He doesn't question their motives or imply they are supporting soundbills in government.

Theoretically, Mr. Eisenhower might have said:

"Look here, Gen. Zhukov, you know you have been deceived. There isn't any 'sacrifice to the state' in the Soviet Union. It's a forced sacrifice of individual liberty to satisfy Stalin — a power-hungry dictator — and you know it. Look around you — see how people are torn from their homes and denied any trial."

"See how many are killed for expressing dissent."

"See how the worker is robbed of the food he produces on his farm."

"Can the word 'sacrifice' ever cover up or excuse tyranny and cruelty?"

Hitler also argued that what he was doing was for the benefit of the people but he killed hundreds of thousands of innocent persons inside his own country who disagreed with him.

"In America we believe that 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness' is what the individual must be guaranteed and that no dictator or dictatorial clique can lawfully take away the rights of the individual."

"We believe that the amount of 'sacrifice' the individual makes for the nation must be determined by him through his representatives chosen in a free election, which is something you don't have."

BUT MR. EISENHOWER was too polite to say anything of this kind.

He was truly up against it — trying to be courteous and listen at the same time to the argument that idealism rather than absolute materialism is the basic philosophy of communism.

If the proposed meeting between our secretary of defense and Marshal Zhukov is held soon, there is no reason why the blunt-speaking Charlie Wilson can't say a few things of this sort when the discussion takes a philosophical turn. For the free - wheeling Mr. Wilson has learned somehow to make conversational dissection a virtue.

Run On Fort Knox

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A run on Fort Knox is a bogeyman today to those who worry about the growing amount of foreign holdings of dollars and American securities.

Under our gold law, American citizens cannot ask gold for their paper dollars or hold gold except as jewelry or for designated industrial purposes. But the law permits the central banks of other nations to turn their dollars in for gold at will.

The U. S. Treasury admits that theoretically — but only theoretically — foreigners could turn American investments into dollars and deposit these with foreign central banks. Then, still theoretically, all these banks could demand gold in exchange for dollars.

Such a run on Fort Knox could bring our holdings below the 12 billion dollars worth the Treasury legally must keep to back some 47 billion dollars in Federal reserve notes and deposits.

The Treasury says this cannot happen in practice because:

1. If any worldwide monetary and economic upheaval should start such a run, the United States would declare a moratorium on gold payments and go on keeping the metal right there in Fort Knox;

2. As long as the U.S. dollar is so respected everywhere, most foreigners prefer to have dollars rather than gold;

3. They need to have dollars to go on with their every day world trade transactions, just as a businessman here must have a healthy sum in the bank to go on with his daily transactions.

These reassurances, however, don't stop some people—including some senators — from worrying about the increasing foreign dollar holdings and investments.

The U.S. gold situation is this: The Treasury has stored 22 1/2 billion dollars worth of it. That is 10 1/2 billion more than needed as legal backing for our currency.

Central banks of other lands have from eight to nine billion U.S. dollars available to them.

Dollar credits of individual foreigners are variously estimated at from 5 1/2 to 7 billion. Individuals can't get gold for these dollar credits from our Treasury, any more than you can. But if they could sell all these investments to their central banks, these would then have from 13 1/2 to 16 billion in dollar holdings.

Either the low or the high figure would be more than we could pay out in gold on demand without dropping our currency backing below the legal amount.

That is the theoretical picture. Bankers here agree with the Treasury that nothing could be less likely. They cite the same points the Treasury does, and add some more.

The stability of our government, compared with that of some others, leads many foreigners to want to keep their money here—just in case.

And American investments abroad far outstrip those of foreign investments here.

Ohio Buys Now, Pays Later

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Constitution, written before the vogue of "buy now, pay later," sets a $750,000 limit on state debts.

But the Constitution also allows Ohioans, who have become installment-purchase-minded, to vote for bond issues putting them far deeper in hock.

Voters virtually threw away the lid in recent years to pay veterans' bonuses and get the state's greatest highway and institutional building program under way. They approved the borrowing to get results much faster than possible on the old pay-as-you-go basis.

Figures from State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy's office show that state bond obligations soon will exceed $100 for each of Ohio's more than nine million residents. And the cost of state borrowing will increase, officials said, as a result of newly boosted interest rates on federal securities that set the national pattern.

Interest payments alone on bonds issued by the state will exceed 173 million dollars. The payments go to insurance firms and other private interests lending the money for capital improvements through purchase of the tax-free bonds.

Ohio's bonded-debt picture is shaping up like this:

Major highway construction bonds of 500 million dollars will pay out a total of 122 millions in interest to bond holders for a total of 622 millions.

The 150-million-dollar issue for schools and institutions will cost 29 millions in interest and the 60-million - dollar Korean conflict bonus will cost 76 millions, including interest.

About 93 million dollars still must be paid on the World War II bonus, plus 6 millions in interest for a total of 99 millions.

All this means Ohio is bonded for 803 millions and must pay another 173 millions in interest for a total of 976 million dollars.

Not all of the highway and institutional construction bonds have been issued. That is expected by 1959. The last bonds will fall due in 1972. All but 93 million dollars worth of the 212 1/2 million dollar issue of World War II bonus bonds have been retired.

Recent administrations have made much of holding the line against new or increased taxes. But extra levies were imposed to pay off the bond loans.

An additional tax was levied on all real estate in Ohio to pay off the bonus bonds. And a million dollars a month comes out of the state's general revenue fund to help retire World War II bonus bonds.

An extra penny a gallon tax on gasoline and an axle-mile tax on trucks were imposed to assure retirement of the bonds to help finance a whopping 2 1/2 billion dollar highway building program in the next four years. Federal aid and other revenues swelled total available funds.

An additional penny a pack tax on cigarettes will pay off bonds for the construction of new schools, state hospitals, prisons and other capital improvements.

Total debt service on highway bonds to date approximates 18 1/2 million dollars. State fiscal experts expect the cost of future bond issues to exceed present estimates if interest rates continue to mount.

Original estimates for debt service through 1972 ran about 590 1/2 millions. They were boosted to 622 millions when it became apparent that Ohio might have to pay about 3 1/2 per cent interest on its next bond issue. Officials now figure those estimates will have to be raised still more in the wake of a new advance in federal interest rates.

Labor Confusion

By RAYMOND MOLEY

When the Supreme Court returns in the autumn and resumes its work of shearing away the remaining powers and authority of the states, it may find a problem which will require considerable ingenuity to solve.

The Supreme Court of the State of Georgia, relying on a sentence in the U. S. Supreme Court's opinion in the Hansen case, which upheld the closed shop under the Railway Labor Act, has declared that the closed shop cannot be enforced if the member's dues or contributions are used to support ideological issues and candidates to which he is opposed.

This strikes directly at the very foundation of the power which unions exercise.

THAT IS TO USE the closed shop to make captive not only the general funds of unions but the officers thereof and to use these for the promotion of the political purposes of the union leaders.

In fact, in such unions as the Steelworkers and the United Automobile Workers, compulsory membership in the union practically means compulsory membership in the Democratic party.

True, the member may vote as he pleases but his dollars are used to pressure people to register and to indoctrinate them over the air, in print, and by the spoken word.

WHILE the advocates of the administration's civil rights bill are working up a big hullabaloo about the right to vote, nothing is said about this denial of a worker's right to have his money used to support a trade union rather than a political party.

This use of the general funds of captive unions is defended under the semantic trick of calling political activities educational.

The sentence upon which the Georgia court relied was this: "Judgment is reserved as to the validity or enforceability of a union or closed shop agreement if other conditions of union membership be imposed or if the exaction of dues, initiation fees or assessments is used as a cover for enforcing ideological conformity or other action in contravention of the First and Fifth Amendments."

THE GEORGIA COURT made this judgment based upon that dictum in the Hansen decision: "We must render judgment now upon this precise question. We do not believe one can constitutionally be compelled to contribute money to support ideas, politics and candidates which he opposes."

"We believe his right to immunity from such exaction is superior to any claim the union can make upon him."

In March the Supreme Court decided that the government's indictment against the UAW for a violation of the Taft-Hartley Act, because of a political broadcast paid out of union funds, should be reinstated.

JUSTICE Frankfurter made it fairly clear that such activities were not merely educational but political.

Thus, the Supreme Court may be caught by its own admissions. But considering the fact that new members have mounted the bench, there is no way of telling how consistent the high court may be.

Recent decisions offer no great hope on that score.

But it will take a good deal of rationalization to justify taking a man's money to expound ideas and policies to which he is opposed.

Unprepared

We like to think these days that we are truly a long way from another war. But, properly, we still maintain our civil defense organization in most areas in some fashion or other.

One sad thing, however, is that in very few places is it genuinely adequate even by the most minimum standards. Funds are insufficient and interest is low.

Another, evidently, is that public indifference is such that it is doubtful if even such defensive measures as could be taken would really be effective.

University of Michigan testers found that if air raid sirens sounded a real alarm only some 20 per cent of the people would believe an actual attack was under way. Most would do nothing in response, or perhaps do the wrong thing.

Considering all that is at stake, this is a rather sad state of affairs. Our luck had better be enormously good in the months and years ahead.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Those Inflation Probes

Two Senate committees will investigate inflation. Here's betting their efforts will cost twice what such things used to.

To get the proper sense of indignation and the necessary zeal for the probes the committee should begin each day by first ordering a sandwich and a cup of coffee and observing the change from a dollar.

FINDING THE VILLAINS in inflation will not be hard. They are Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public who can be seen all over the country complaining of the struggle to make ends meet, while going from the market in a de luxe auto loaded down with items they could do without, and hurrying home to get a warning from economists on their color TV sets.

WE WOULD LIKE to see John Q. under cross-examination by one or both committees:

Q.—What is your name?
A.—John Q. Citizen.

Q.—Where do you reside?
A.—In a new split level twice too big for me which I will be paying for over the next quarter century.

Q.—What is your business?
A.—I'm an aerial gymnast.

Q.—What do you mean by that?
A.—Like most people I'm up in the air all the time, far above accustomed levels, taking long chances and working without a NET.

Q.—You are suffering from inflation?
A.—In the present economy it is not considered suffering so long as the aches and pains are obtained on the deferred payment plan, with green stamps given with each new worry.

Q.—What is your dollar worth today?
A.—All I know is I get three or four times the salary my father got for doing half as much work, and proceed merrily under the illusion I am doing well because the fog is thicker and in more general supply.

Q.—Aren't you alarmed?
A.—I would be except that all my friends are in the same boat and keep hitting themselves on the head with the oars under the illusion they get farther against the tide than by rowing.

Q.—Have you considered a little thrift?
A.—I remember hearing my grandfather use the word but I don't recall the meaning.

Q.—Aren't you wearing rose-colored glasses?
A.—Yes, but why not? The glasses are on time-payment.

Q.—Can you afford to live the way you do?
A.—No. But it's the next best thing to roller skating on a revolving floor, and I can always get more money.

Q.—When your wages go up prices go up. Does that make a sensible picture?
A.—Who cares if it's a sensible picture if he can see it from a de luxe radio station wagon through extra-vision windows with the radio playing calypso music and with a very amusing telecast ahead when I get home?

Q.—What telecast is that?
A.—Two Senate committees trying to find out why we have inflation!

THE FAMOUS COMEDY TEAM of Abbott & Costello has split up, with Abbott retiring to devote his time to raising race horses. . . . This is okay with us up to the time we find an Abbott thoroughbred going to the post with Costello up.

Smaller earth satellites are announced for those Geophysical Year flights around the moon. . . . There have been quite a few cancellations, we suppose, which made smaller ships advisable.

When completed, it will then become the third highest dam in world, 580 feet.

Increased Steel Sales Expected In August

CLEVELAND (AP)—July will be a better month saleswise for the steel industry than expected and orders for August are shaping up better than for July, "Steel" magazine said today.

The metalworking weekly said steel ingot production, which was at the year's low mark in the first week of this month, edged upward again last week with operations up half a point at 81 percent of rated capacity. Output for the week totaled 2,073,000 net tons.

"Steel" said the demand for steel for the 1958 automobiles models should make September an even better month for the industry than August.

Widely used products such as hot-rolled and cold-rolled carbon steel sheets and hot-rolled and cold-rolled carbon bars are sharing in the current upturn, the trade weekly said. The demand for structural steel has been easing.

Police were told by other persons in the building they saw a dark-haired woman run away after the shots were heard.

Police found 32-caliber shells outside Davis' door and a chair that may have been used by the gunman to reach the transom. Two suspects were questioned.

Clinton

fering with integration in Clinton still stands.

But many people here feel that a complete acquittal would be interpreted as a clear verdict against integration in Tennessee.

They believe it would be doubly difficult to enforce the order, then, in Clinton or anywhere else in the state.

Legally, the question before the jury is not whether the people of Tennessee want segregated schools. It is whether the government proved, beyond reasonable doubt, that Kasper and the other 10 conspired to circumvent Taylor's orders to integrate the high school, and then committed the "overt acts."

Southern defense lawyers claim the government failed completely to prove its charges. They called only six witnesses for brief testimony. The government had called 41.

convicted then Sheppard can be pardoned."

Declines To Comment
Gov. O'Neill declined to comment.

The governor approved the agency's request to test Sheppard after the organization administered a lie test last week to a Florida prisoner who said he killed a woman in Cleveland in July 1954 under circumstances similar to the Sheppard case.

Donald J. Wedler, 23, jailed on a burglary charge in Deland, Fla. was administered the test by Alex Gregory of the Court of Last Resort. After the test, Gregory said Wedler is "telling the truth or what he believes to be the truth."

However, Cleveland authorities noted discrepancies between Wedler's story and the facts of the Sheppard case.

When shown a photograph of Wedler, Sheppard remarked: "I have a vague feeling this is the man who attacked me."

Knocked Out Twice
The osteopath, who has claimed his innocence all along, said he was twice knocked out by a "bushy-haired" intruder whom he blamed for his wife's death. But Wedler said he encountered a man at the murder scene whom he struck only once.

Judge Blythin, a former Cleveland mayor, was on the bench during the 10-week trial in which a jury convicted Sheppard Dec. 21, 1954, of killing his pregnant wife Marilyn. She was beaten to death July 4, 1954, in their home in Bay Village, a Cleveland suburb. Dr. Sheppard is serving a life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary here.

In his statement to the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Judge Blythin said that "a jury, a court of appeals and the Supreme Court of Ohio have established and confirmed the defendant's guilt under our system of jurisprudence."

He added that the U. S. Supreme Court has refused a review.

"Now a group of purely private individuals, who are not even citizens of our state, and who have no evidence to offer, are appearing in the interest of increasing the circulation of a monthly magazine and are permitted inside the Ohio Penitentiary to meddle with a prisoner lawfully imprisoned and all, seemingly, without prior consultation with any of the authorities who have the responsibilities involved in the prosecution of the case. The entire performance is nothing short of fantastic."

The day of the test has not been announced but it is expected to be this week.

Bing Cherries Add To Ice Cream

Dark sweet cherries contribute their fresh flavor to this vanilla ice-cream dessert. Make it from scratch or from a mix; both directions follow.

Whether cherries are the Bing, Lambert or Royal Anne variety, they should be refrigerated and washed in cold water just before using. Nowadays fruit-orchard people advise storing ripe cherries in plastic bags; they believe this treatment prolongs the fruit's keeping qualities.

Cherry Ice Cream Dessert
Ingredients: Dark sweet cherries, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cups milk, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream.

Method: Wash and pit cherries; coarsely chop enough of them to make 2 cups. Beat eggs until they begin to get thick and are lemon-colored. Beat in sugar gradually until very thick. Add salt and heat with milk to combine. Pour into freezing tray and freeze at cold setting. When frozen, remove to chilled bowl. Add vanilla and whip with rotary beater (hand or electric) until light and creamy.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Recurrent Nosebleeds

"Almost every day my two-year-old son has a nosebleed," writes Mrs. S. "This occurs either during his sleep or after he wakes up. He cries during sleep, but as soon as his nose bleeds he sleeps peacefully. What can cause this and what should be done?"

There are several possibilities for these recurrent nosebleeds and the situation should surely be investigated. Some nosebleeds of this kind appear to come frequently in delicate children. Some outgrow them after a period of months or years without active treatment.

However, I do believe that every youngster (or adult, either) who has frequent nosebleeds should be examined.

After writing a column on nosebleeds several years ago, I received a letter from a medical colleague who has studied the subject extensively and feels that some of these recurrent nosebleeds are the result of hormone disturbance, largely of hereditary origin. These, he feels, can be corrected. It is, of course, possible that Mrs. S.'s son has this form of nosebleed.

Probably some of these nosebleeds come from small ulcers in the nose. Some youngsters pick or scratch the inside of the nose or place objects in it. This will usually lead to trouble.

There is a family form of nosebleed which is sometimes found in several generations. This condition is caused by enlarged blood vessels in the nose which frequently rupture and result in nosebleeds at frequent intervals.

Certain blood diseases can cause nosebleed. If the blood does not clot properly, bleeding is particularly likely to show up in various openings of the body, including the nose. In fact, nosebleed may be the first sign of some disease of the blood.

Nosebleeds often occur when a person moves to high altitudes. Other possible causes include violent exertion, acute infections and occasionally tuberculosis or chemical poisoning.

Rupert Farm Has Top Jersey Herd

LISBON—One of the outstanding Jersey herds in Ohio will be seen by visitors at the Columbiana County Field Day to be held at the Willis R. Rupert and Sons Farm near New Waterford on Aug. 7, according to county agent, Floyd Lower.

Rupert started with a dairy herd in 1910 and with 10 sires raised the average production of butterfat from 410 pounds per cow per year to 560 pounds.

The herd has been continuously tested for 46 years.

The Rupert farm was the first in Columbiana County to install a milking parlor and pipeline milkers. It was one of the first farms to do pasture improvement work and is now producing excellent quality hay with a hay crusher and a heat drying system.

The farm is also widely known for the partnership arrangement, in which three sons are partners with the father. Operations were enlarged as each son was ready to go into business. Thus, the Ruperts have overcome the unbalanced relationship of land, lakes, capital and management.

The farm has been featured in articles in various national farm magazines.

A simple nosebleed can, usually be checked rapidly. Pressure on the upper lip, the application of cold to the back of the neck, and the insertion of a little cotton into the nostril itself are methods normally used.

Rest in a position halfway between sitting and lying, accompanied by muscular relaxation, stops most nosebleeds rather rapidly. In severe cases it may be necessary to cauterize or pack the region around the blood vessels in the nose from which the blood is escaping.

But repeated nosebleeds should always be carefully investigated.

Allow Grass To Grow Longer When Weather Becomes Hot

By GARDNER ZADE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Lawns need a particular kind of care in midsummer and later in the hot weather. There is danger in improper mowing.

Grass should be allowed to grow longer during hot weather. Like other living plants, its function can be compared to a factory's. It takes up food and transforms it into energy. The green blades perform a vital function in this transformation. How can it go through this cycle if the plants are crippled by close cropping?

MANY HOUSEHOLDERS keep their cutting bar only a half inch from the ground. Yellowish stems are exposed and the lawn loses its uniformity of texture.

Grass should never be shorter than an inch and a half at this season. Creeping bent may be slightly shorter but never lower than an inch.

Frequent cuttings do no harm if proper height is maintained. But it is better to cut at a certain height rather than set a schedule of cutting every weekend.

A successful lawn is the result of good soil well prepared in advance and maintained constantly thereafter. In many areas, fall starting of lawns is preferred to spring starts.

Topsoil is the beginning. Ordinary field soil is not satisfactory. Four inches of soil properly built up by experts to serve for a lawn is the ideal foundation.

DON'T EXPECT to change clay or sand into top soil by merely adding peat moss or manure or sowing soybeans and plowing under.

In sowing the grass in autumn, don't expect a miracle. Do the best you can and then improve by fertilizing, proper mowing and watering.

Seedlings should be kept moist until they take hold. Don't mow until grass is three inches.

A weed infested lawn should be rebuilt if 50 per cent of the area has been taken over. Weeds are effectively killed by one of the many weedicides now for sale. Apply as directed. Consult your local garden supply dealer.

PLow OR TURN OVER the soil to the depth of six or eight inches, then spread four-inch layer of the best topsoil available. Add good chemical fertilizer at the rate of 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet of area. Rake smooth and let stand a week or 10 days.

Remove any weeds which show themselves. During this period spread 40 to 50 per cent chlorine or dieldrin at the rate of one pound per 1,000 square feet. Rake it in at least three days before sowing.

This will grub-proof the lawn for five to seven years and kill the Japanese and other beetles.

FIXING TOILET TANK
DO . . . when water is leaking into the toilet bowl, remove the tank cover and see whether the water level is above the top of the vertical overflow tube.

DO . . . if the water is above this tube, know that the metal or plastic float is probably at fault; in which case, bend the float rod downwards or, when the float has lost its buoyancy, buy a new one.

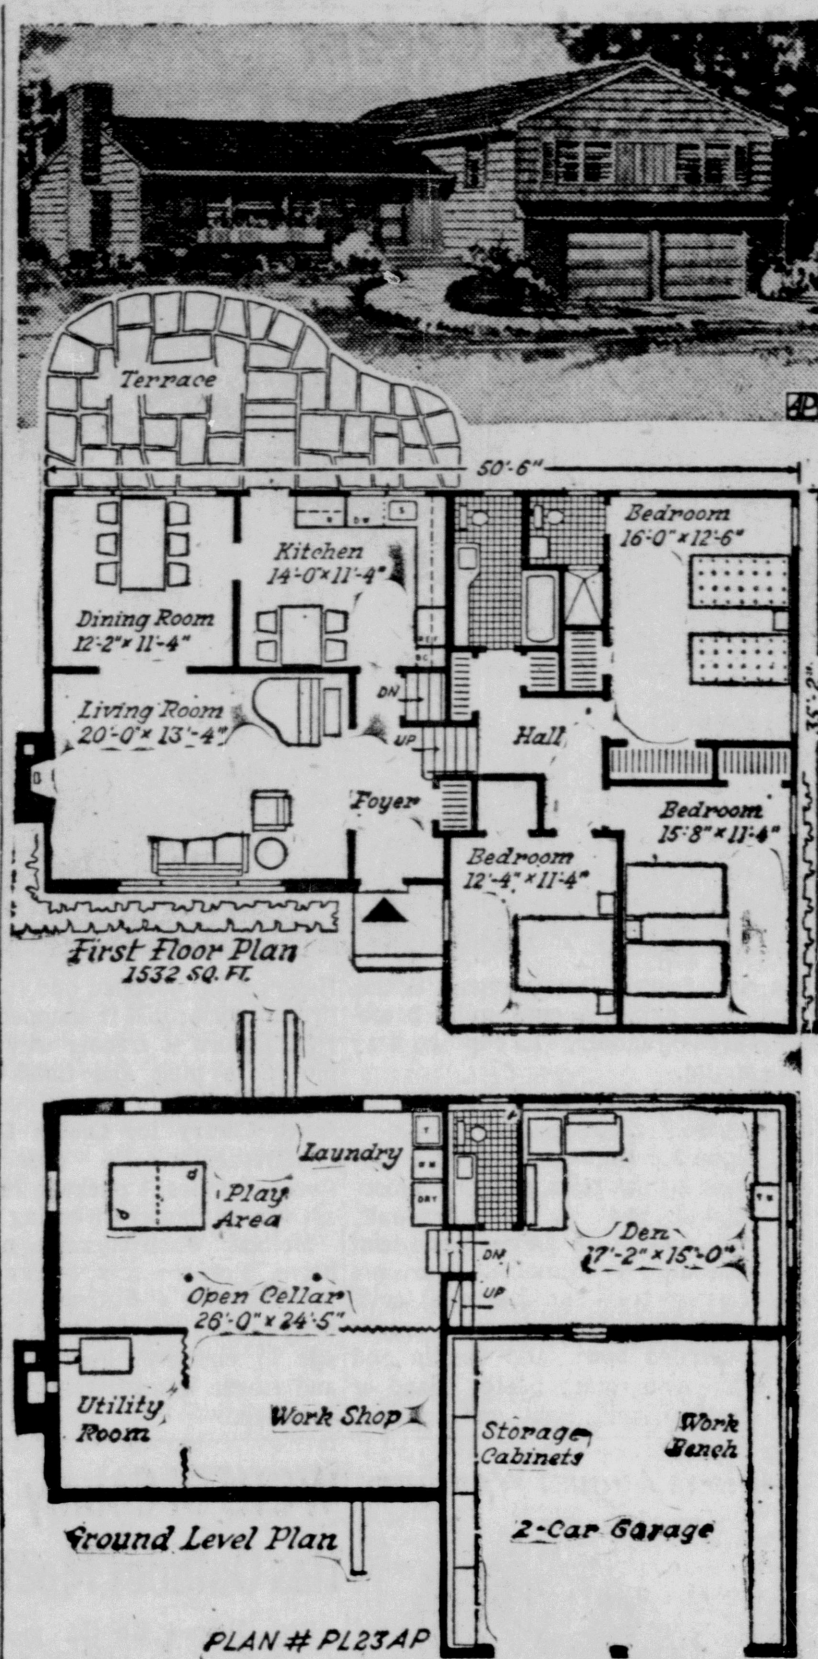

DO . . . if the water is below the overflow tube, know that the leak is occurring at the valve seat at the bottom of the tank; in which case, be sure the rubber valve is dropping exactly on the valve seat or buy a new rubber valve if it appears to be in poor condition.

DO . . . consider the possibility of getting one of the newer products that assures a perfect seating of the rubber valve every time.

DON'T . . . in bending the float rod, fail to use both hands and be sure to work carefully so the entire tank mechanism will not be thrown out of alignment.

DON'T . . . forget that there is a washer in the little metal plunger at the top of the supply pipe on the left-hand side of the tank and that this washer sometimes needs replacement — but be sure the water is turned off when you make the change.

STORAGE WALL TRICK

Several rooms can be partitioned by a single storage wall. A striking facade of southern pine paneling will conceal built-in TV and serving counter, as well as the storage receptacles. Several walls of the storage type are possible in a plank-and-beam house where room partitions are not elements of roof support.

Q — How much window area is needed to ventilate a room properly? —B.C.

A — Most planning experts recommend that window area be at least 10 per cent of total floor area of a room. Careful planning in placement of this area is, of course, necessary.

TIPS ON PAINTING

Paint experts say be sure to wash off any sizing or paste that may remain when preparing to paint a wall from which wallpaper has been removed.

Apply a coat of wall primer when the surface is dry and allow it to dry overnight.

The next day, a new coat of paint can be applied.

Architect's Ranch Style Home Design Has Four-Way Stretch

California's rapid growth is the inspiration for Architect Goodwin B. Steinberg's expandable house.

His ranch style design has four-way stretch.

As a model home, it is one of the major attractions of the California Home and Garden Show.

"This house can keep pace with today's bigger families by pushing out from the living room, the master bedroom, the all-purpose room or the garage," Steinberg explains.

His starter model has a central hall floor plan, three bedrooms, two baths, living room, all-purpose room, kitchen and larger-than-two-car garage.

The expandability trick comes in the use of a three-foot measurement or module, a departure from the basic four-foot measurement which has become standard through most of the present day home design.

"The owner who needs more space just follows the pattern of the three-foot grids to make an addition economical and attractive," Steinberg promises.

A growing family could add a bedroom off the bedroom at the back of the house, a study off the master bedroom, a dining room off the living room side.

"The garage offers the largest area for expansion," Steinberg says. Its ridge beam furnishes an exact dividing point for construction of a large room with ample space left for a single car. The roof slopes allows for carport extension.

Steinberg incorporates the three-foot grid system in the design pattern to avoid starkness. He carries out the basic grid of three-foot squares on a two to one ratio throughout the house.

One example is the exposed beam and plank ceiling. Eight by eight inch beams are spaced first in a six-foot span, then a three-foot span, then another six.

Spanning these main beams are smaller three by three inch beams, spaced at two-foot and one-foot intervals.

Vertical and horizontal siding also repeats a two to one ratio with eight inch and four inch boards.

"I use this rhythmic pattern in everything from the floor materials to the light fixtures to the windows and the fireplace," the architect adds.

Dampness In Basements Held Relatively Easy To Eliminate

Home owners who want to turn their basements into recreation rooms, but who hesitate because of dampness in the basement, should not let this stand in their way. Dampness is relatively easy to cure, according to the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

One of the principal causes of wet basements is that the yard is not graded so that water drains away from the foundation walls. When this condition prevails, it can be eliminated by banking a few cubic yards of topsoil to a height of four or five inches all around and against the foundation, sloping the new earth away to a distance of five or six feet, and planting it to grass.

ADDITIONAL protection can be provided by painting the interior surface of the basement's masonry walls with one of the numerous waterproofing compounds now on the market. These come in powder form in many colors. The powder is mixed to a thick consistency in water and scrubbed into the pores of the masonry.

After the walls are thus treated, the masonry can be left exposed if an attractive color is chosen for the waterproofing compound. If finished walls are desired, this can be done with assurance that no moisture damage will result, unless extremely unusual water conditions prevail. For a finished wall of plywood, or plasterboard furring strips are attached to the masonry walls and the finish wall material fastened to these strips.

TO FURTHER eliminate moisture, the floor should be covered with asphalt or vinyl tile, such as Kentele, because this material is water resistant and helps seal out any moisture that might rise through the concrete floor by capillary action. Also, it is not affected by alkali or moisture which is always present in concrete in contact with the earth. Besides its waterproofing characteristics, the asphalt tile flooring is available in a wide range of colors and there is no limit to the floor designs which can be created.

ALTHOUGH THE waterproofing methods described will prevent dampness in the basement from external sources in practically all cases, varying amounts of moisture will appear on humid days. This is caused by moisture in the air condensing on cool surfaces, and the basement is usually quite cool on hot days. However, various chemicals and mechanical devices are available which will absorb the excess moisture from the air and prevent condensation. A container of such chemical or a mechanical dehumidifying device placed in an out-of-the-way corner of the basement will prevent condensation troubles.

Future Home Has Single Material

Many of tomorrow's homes will use the same material for walls, floors and the roof.

That is the prediction of a prize-winning builder in the San Francisco Bay Area who sees cheaper homes that go up faster.

Builder Richard Kahan has just introduced a basic house made of the new building panel (Forest-wall). Although the material he uses is the first of its type on the market, he anticipates widespread development and adoption of similar panels "until home-building becomes a mill job rather than a site job."

Kahan says this type of material equals a "bunch of wall studs together," offers built-in insulation, serves as a dual interior - exterior wall without painting, and needs no wax, other finish or covering for the floor.

The new building unit is solid wood laminated in electronic presses with two sheets of hardboard on either side. Panels vary in thickness from one and five-eighths to two and one-fourth inches, from two to four feet in width and eight to 16 feet in length.

Processed in the West by a national concern, the panels are distributed through the country to replace stud wall construction. The material, tested by the University of California engineering laboratories, has been accepted by the national building standards organization, the Uniform Building Code. It has just been selected by the government for a new Air Force housing development in Nevada.

INSULATED BEDROOM

If you want bedrooms that are insulated against noises from the rest of the house, then utilize walls nearest living areas for wall storage facilities. The West Coast Lumbermen's Association says: these built-in wardrobe and wall storage units make an ideal noise insulator.

WOOD, 'OLD RELIABLE'

Despite many new building products of metals and masonry, available to the construction industry, over 83 per cent of all new homes built in the U.S. last year were frame construction, made of wood, says the Bureau of Labor Statistics latest release. This is up from the previous year.

Always Make Safety Practice Prime Workshop Concern

Now is the time for all good handy men to check on safety procedures before they leave the gardens to return to the fall-and-winter workshop havens.

Insurance companies, who are concerned about such things, have been busy compiling figures on home mishaps.

Estimates of the number of disabling accidents in the home each year range from 550,000 to 640,000. Whichever figure you take, it's still too high.

Many safety precautions are unknown to amateurs, disregarded by professionals. When you handle repair or building chores, consider the following suggestions:

HAND TOOLS. Believe it or not, a tool with a cutting edge that is sharp is a lot safer than a dull tool. After you have used a saw for a time, sharpen it and reset the teeth. If you can't do this job yourself, have it done by a professional. An improperly set saw will bind, making for poor work and potential accidents.

Keep wood bits sharp. A frequent cause of accidents is application of excessive pressure on a brace because of a dull bit.

Do not use a screw driver as a chisel. It will slip before it will cut the wood. Don't use a screw driver for a pry bar. The least that will happen is you'll break the screw driver.

Don't, for obvious reasons, use a screw driver for work held in the hand. Keep the blade of a screw driver square and clean. Use it only for the size screw for which it was designed.

NEVER USE A HAMMER with a cast iron head. Pick one that's made of forged steel. Check the handle carefully. It should be well-fitted, straight-grained and free from cracks.

Properly stored hand tools will remain sharp longer. Inspect a tool before you use it. Keep tools clean at all times.

Ladders. Largest group of accidents around the home involves falls from ladders and scaffolds. A ladder should rest on a firm, level surface. The foot of a ladder should be about one fourth of its length away from the wall. Discard a ladder that has become worn and shaky. When using a stepladder, open it fully.

Climb a ladder slowly and work only within arm's length. Keep both hands free when climbing. Put your tools in a container and haul them up with a rope.

Don't work on a ladder on a windy day. If possible, have someone around to brace a ladder. Otherwise fasten a safety rope to the ladder, tie the other end to some projection on the wall.

POWER TOOLS. Read instructions carefully before attempting to use a new power tool. Ask the salesman for a demonstration at time of purchase.

Make sure that power tools are equipped, wherever possible, with safety guards. Enclose open-running wheels, belts and pulleys.

Power cords and electrical appliances should carry the seal of a reputable, well-known testing laboratory. Remember — such a seal indicates that the device meets electrical requirements for that type of equipment. It does NOT serve as a blanket guarantee of the merchandise.

Your powered equipment should be on a circuit that is equipped with an on-off switch that you can lock shut when tools are not in use.

Wear safety goggles for sawing, drilling and grinding. It's a good idea to wear them, too, when using solvents and caustic compounds.

Above all — don't take chances. There's no room for amateur experimentation with your well being.

The Department Of Inquiry

Q — I put a solid brass doorknob on our front door some months ago. It now has started to tarnish. The tarnish comes off by rubbing it with a fine grade of steel wool, but it keeps coming back after a week or so. How can I prevent the tarnish?

A — Solid brass doorknobs are usually covered with a clear lacquer to protect the finish. There may or may not have been such a protection on the doorknob you purchased. Get the tarnish off once again, then give it two coats of clear lacquer, diluted half and half with lacquer thinner. You will have to repeat this about once a year. Some persons deliberately remove the lacquer from brass with lacquer thinner and then polish the unlacquered metal periodically.

They feel it is easier to prevent tarnish this way than by constant lacquering.

Q — When I started college under the Korean GI Bill, my objective was BA degree, with English as my major. I recently decided to change to engineering and get a BS degree instead. Would this be considered my one-and-only change allowed by law?

A — If no extension of time is required to complete work for your new objective, you would not be charged with a change of course. If a time extension is necessary, you would be charged with a change.

Q — I am receiving retirement pay from the armed forces. Is it possible to pay my GI insurance premiums by having the Government deduct the required amount from my retirement check each month, saving me the trouble of taking care of it myself?

A — Yes. If you are released service retirement pay may arrange for payment of GI insurance premiums by allotment. Authorization must be registered with your branch of service.

Q — I want to sell my GI home, allow the buyer to take over my GI loan, and get a release from liability. My wife signed the note when the loan was made. Will she also be released from liability?

A — Yes. If you are released from liability, she also will be released.

Q — I'm over 18 and eligible to go to school under the War Orphans Education program. I understand that if I go, I no longer will receive death compensation payments from VA. Is my selection of benefits considered "final" when I file my application for War Orphans schooling?

A — No. The election of benefits is final only after the first War Orphans payment has been made in your behalf, or after an administrative allowance has been paid to your school.

Bodies Of 8 U.S. Airmen Recovered

TREVISIO, Italy. (AP) — Italian police made their way slowly down the rocky side of Mt. Pra today with the bodies of eight American airmen killed Sunday when their U. S. Navy plane crashed in flames.

A ninth victim had been brought down Sunday. The plane's tenth occupant — the only survivor — was in serious condition in a Turin hospital.

Their P2V type plane sideslipped in storm winds and crashed while it was searching for a sister plane missing since Friday with 11 aboard.

A party of Italian mountain climbers saw the search plane crash at 5,200 feet up on Mt. Pra, near the Alpine resort town of Sestriere, between Turin and the French frontier.

They pulled two living airmen from the wreckage and flames, but one of the survivors died of burns a short time afterwards.

Meanwhile, at Turin's hospital, attendants said the lone survivor was "recovering fairly well." No identification for him or the dead members of the crew was yet available.

Growing Family May Find Older House Big Bargain

House-hunters on the alert for a bargain should be aware of the value an older home offers, especially to the growing family planning to buy on a budget.

Here are a few of the advantages of buying an older house:

1. Space. It's often not hard to find a structurally sound old home at a reasonable price that offers four or five bedrooms, a large dining room, a basement, and an unfinished attic.

2. Equipment. More often than not, an older house will have a furnished kitchen, window shades or blinds, curtain and drapery hardware, storm windows and screens, and such things as shelves and built-in storage, all paid for by previous owners.

3. ADVANCEMENTS in home-improvement techniques. Even without extensive remodeling, most older homes in good structural condition can be made comfortable and convenient. Good examples of materials and techniques are packaged bathrooms that can be installed in one day, mineral wool insulation which is blown into walls and ceilings of existing houses, and asphalt shingles which can be applied directly over old roofing material, adding new color to an old house and giving it durable protection from weather at the same time.

INSULATING THROUGH the blown-in process is popular with owners of older homes because it not only increases the value of the house, but stops chilling drafts and lowers fuel bills in winter. Summer comfort is increased because the mineral wool keeps heat out.

4. Established lawn and garden. Most of the work of getting grass, shrubs, flowers, and trees to grow has been done by previous owners of an older house. The new owners need only maintain the grounds.

5. DO - IT - YOURSELF materials and techniques. The buyer of an old house can make many of his own improvements gradually with materials and ideas aimed at home handymen and women. Examples are floor tiles, wood and plastic wall paneling designed for easy installation, kitchen cabinets of ponderosa pine that can be used as furniture or built-ins throughout the house, roll-on paints, and batts and blankets of mineral wool for accessible areas.

such as unfinished attics and crawl spaces.

Millions of rock granules are embedded into the surface of asphalt shingles. The granules are both functional and decorative.

The opaque granules give the surface of the roofing a tough coat of rock which seals in the heavy oils of the asphalt and reduces the wearing effect of rain, snow, and ice.

For appearance, the granules are given color through a special ceramic process. The result is a wide range of colors available in asphalt shingles, from light pastels to deep tones and blends.

8 Children Killed In Kentucky Crash

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP) — A day of pleasure riding in a rattletrap car ended in death on a railroad crossing for eight youngsters Sunday.

The youths had been riding around in the 1941 model car all day.

Only minutes before the Southern Railway freight hit them, one boy, scared by what he called drive,

"some reckless driving," had left the auto.

Dead were Charles Allen, 13; his two sisters, Frances, 14, and Josephine, 15; Betty Bray, 15; James Richards, 16; James Calhoun, 12; Charles Simmons, 16; and Ronald Davis, 17. All were from Somerset.

Sheriff Gilmore Phelps quoted 15-year-old Donald Hawk as saying he had been riding with the other youngsters but became frightened when some of the boys began wrestling to see who would drive.

White Sox Shut Out Red Sox

Braves, Giants Split Twin Bill; Tigers Beat Senators In 10

By The Associated Press
The pitching of Brooks Lawrence and the hitting of George Crowe, has the hot-and-cold Cincinnati Redlegs sizzling again, spelling bad news for the other four National League contenders.
They said Lawrence, acquired by the Reds in a trade with St. Louis the winter before last, was lucky last year when he won 19 games. They said Crowe, obtained from Milwaukee last year for a third stringer named Bob Hazle, was too old, too slow and too weak with the stick.
Today the Redlegs, after a 4-2 and 6-4 double-header sweep over Philadelphia, are only two games behind the pace-setting Milwaukee Braves, largely because Brooks turned in his 11th triumph of the season and Crowe walked his 22nd home run.
In other National League games Milwaukee split with New York, winning the second game 7-4 after the Giants had won the opener 5-4. Brooklyn gained a split with Chicago, winning 7-2 after a 5-4 defeat. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 7-3 in 10 innings of the opener and led 11-2 with one out in the top of the ninth when the second game was halted by Pennsylvania's curfew law.
Chicago's White Sox pulled within 4 1/2 games of the American League-leading New York Yankees, shutting out the Boston Red Sox 3-0. The Cleveland Indians came from behind to down the Yankees 7-4 after losing the opener 4-3.
Detroit nipped Washington 6-5 in 10 innings when rookie pitcher Jim Heise of the Senators walked across the winning run with the bases loaded. Kansas City beat Baltimore 3-2 after the Orioles had won the opener 7-2.
Lawrence gave up five hits to the Phillies before he was relieved by Raul Sanchez in the eighth of the opener. Crowe's two-run homer and a four-bagger by Gus Bell was enough to hand Robin Roberts his seventh straight defeat and 13th of the season. A 16-hit attack, including three hits each by Ted Kluszewski, Wally Post and Roy McMillan, moved the Reds up into fourth place past these.

Lawrence, 32, has been the workhorse of the Redlegs, relieving in 10 games besides starting 19. Crowe, 34, hit four home runs in the last five days, the Reds winning five of the six games.
Johnny Logan got 5-for-5 and Del Crandall drove in two runs with a home run and two singles as the Braves scored all their second-game runs in the last three innings to come from behind a 4-0 deficit. A two-run single by pinch hitter Hank Sauer in the ninth won the first game for the Giants.
A five-run fourth, highlighted by Duke Snider's pinch hit single with the bases full, helped the Dodgers gain their split with Chicago. Clem Labine won his fifth game, pitching five innings of scoreless relief after replacing starter Don Newcombe. Home runs by Walt Moryn, Chuck Tanner and Lee Walls gave Chicago bonus right-hander Moe Drabowsky his sixth victory.
Second baseman Don Blasingame drove in four runs with a two-run homer in the third and a two-run single in the 10th in St. Louis' first game victory over Pittsburgh. Bonus right-hander Lindy McDaniel hurled a six-hitter and contributed four hits himself before the second game was halted.

Bobby Avila's three-run triple highlighted a four-run Cleveland rally that overcame a 4-2 Yankee lead in the second game and gave Ray Narleski his sixth victory against one defeat. Gil McDougald and Elston Howard homered for the Yankees in the opener but it was a bases-loaded walk to Mickey Mantle that pushed over the winning run. The loss was charged to Bob Lemon.

Westville Blasts A All-Stars 9-3

The Double AA All-Stars crushed the Industrial All-Stars 11-5, and Westville easily whipped the A All-Stars 9-3 in games played at Kelley Park Saturday night.

Poor fielding by both squads produced 11 errors, six for the winners and five for the losers.
High light of the game was a home run by Charlie Klan of Old Dutch for the winners.
Westville tripped up the A All-Stars, smacking out 12 hits against Gene Louge and Gene Stanley. Westville also played excellent ball in the field, making only one error.
The All-Stars scored first in the first inning. Shaffer reached second when the shortstop threw wild to first. R. Stanley popped to short, Shaffer stole third and came home on a ground ball.
In the bottom of the first, Westville scored twice and were never headed thereafter. Grove singled, Grove was safe at second and Krabiel reached first on a fielder's choice. Weizencker moved them up on a ground out third to first.

Alhambra Wins 1st Four Turf Starts

By The Associated Press
Alhambra has finished first in all of his four starts in a strong bid for the 2-year old turf title but the record books show only three victories and a fourth. And he can blame it on stablemate Olymar.
Fred W. Hooper, Florida construction man who has cut quite a swath through American racing since his Hoop, Jr. won the 1945 Kentucky Derby, sent out both colts in the $150,075 Arlington Futurity at Arlington Park Saturday. And Alhambra finished first as expected in the stake record time of 1:09.45 for 6 furlongs.
But Willie Hartack, the nation's leading race winner jockey, claimed his horse, Sir Ruler, was bumped by Olymar. The judges agreed and under an Illinois State Racing Commission rule the entire Hooper entry was disqualified.
Leather Button, who finished 4 1/2 lengths back of Alhambra in the silks of Sidney P. Moore's Rockmore Farms of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was placed first as Eddie Arcaro was deprived of his fourth Futurity victory. Second went to Rellin S. W. and Sir Ruler was moved up to third from fourth.
Travis M. Kerr's Little Oklahoma City-owned campaigner won the $115,400 Westerner for his fifth stakes victory of the Hollywood Park meeting. He leaves Friday for Chicago with the American Derby at Washington Park Aug. 31 his next objective.
Searching, consistent 5-year old mare racing for Mrs. Hirsch Jacobs, won her second race in three starts this year in accounting for the $23,950 distaff handicap at Belmont Park.

Avila Hits 8th Inning Bases-Loaded Triple

CLEVELAND (P)—The mythical Ohio baseball championship will be at stake when the Cleveland Indians of the American League play the National League's Cincinnati Redlegs at Municipal Stadium here tonight in an exhibition game.
The game, for the benefit of the Cleveland Baseball Federation and Sandlotters, is expected to draw over 40,000 customers.
Cincinnati, only two games out of first place, defeated the Indians in an exhibition at Cincinnati last month, 8-3. The Redlegs arrive in Cleveland after sweeping a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday, 4-2 and 6-4.
The Indians ended a four-game series with the league-leading New York Yankees by splitting a doubleheader Sunday. The Tribe lost the first game 4-3 and won the second 7-4.
A crowd of 51,670, the largest here in two years, watched Ray Narleski hold the Yanks to eight hits in the nightcap to record his sixth victory against one defeat. Bobby Avila was the hero of the second game as he blasted a bases-loaded triple in the eighth to score the winning runs.
Gene Woodling and Al Smith hit homers off Yankee starter Johnny Kucks who took his seventh loss against six victories.
Mickey Mantle homered against Narleski, who went all the way for the Indians.
In a tense first game, Gil McDougald and Elston Howard hit home runs as Bob Lemon lost his ninth game in 15 decisions. Cal McLish, who relieved Lemon with bases loaded in the sixth, walked Mantle forcing in what proved to be the winning run.
The Indians jumped to a 2-1 lead in the first inning against Tom Sturdivant, who started for New York. Two runs came home on a pair of walks, Vic Wertz' single and a sacrifice fly by Roger Maris.
Sturdivant left the mound in the seventh after Chico Carrasquel and Jim Hegan singled and McLish beat out a bunt to load the bases. Woodling's sacrifice fly got one run home but Wertz was struck out by Bob Grim to end the inning.
Sturdivant was credited with his eighth win of the season against five defeats.

Althea Gibson Wins National Clay Tourney

CHICAGO (P)—Wimbledon Champion Althea Gibson finally won the tennis championship "I've been chasing since '51" when she breezed past Darlene Hard, 6-2, 6-3, in the National Clay Courts tournament Sunday

Reds Win Two From Phillies

Bell, George Crowe Hit 4-Base Blasts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gus Bell steady Cincinnati Redleg veteran outfielder, is behind schedule on his aim of 35 homers this season, but he can make up plenty of ground if he keeps hitting them in groups of two.

His two four-base blasts and one by George Crowe helped the Reds get past Philadelphia's Phillies Sunday, 4-2 and 6-4, and put the Rhinelanders back in the first division.

It was an encouraging end to a discouraging road trip for the Reds, now in fourth place, but two games back of the leaders. Bell says that the Phillies' Robin Roberts is a tough pitcher to hit against—off and on—but Sunday was a bad day for the Philadelphia who served up Bell's first homer pitch in the seventh inning of the opener.

That added an insurance run to a lead the Reds managed to protect despite a late Phillie surge. First sacker Crowe's big blast, with Frankie Robinson on in the fourth inning, had given the Reds a 3-0 lead.

But starter Brooks Lawrence got into big trouble in the fifth. Rookie Harry Anderson, who has given the Reds trouble in the past, started it off with a homer over the center field fence.

Then, in quick succession, Willie Jones and Joe Lonnett touched Lawrence for singles and Roy Smalley walked to fill the bases with nobody out. The second Philadelphia marker came in on Roberts' sacrifice fly.

The Redleg rightlander got the next two men on easy outs.

Lawrence needed aid from Raul Sanchez and Herschell Freeman before the victory was secure. Sanchez came on in the eighth with two Phillies on base and Freeman got the game's last out to quell a threat.

The Reds picked up the first marker with a third inning double by Lawrence that scored Roy McMillan.

The Rhinelanders had a 6-0 lead through the first five innings of the nightcap, but had to beat back another late Phillie rally.

Art Fowler, who took his first triumph this season, was harried in the sixth when Philadelphia scored three times.

Ed Bouchée spoiled the potential shutout, tripling in the first run and came home himself on a wild pitch. Stan Lopata followed with a homer—first of two for him.

That's when Tom Acker took over the mound, holding firm control until the ninth inning when Lopata came through with his second big blast. John Klippstein finished out the inning and the game.

A hit batsman and two straight singles brought in the first Red run in the opening inning. Another came along in the second on a double by McMillan and Alex Grammas' single.

Wally Post singled in a run in the fifth and scored on a single by Don Hoak.

Gus Bell's second homer, an inside the park blast, came in the fourth with McMillan on base. The scoring blow bounced on the outfield grass and by the time it was cornered by Phillie outfielders, the Reds were safely home.

The Redlegs left after the game for Cleveland where an exhibition game is scheduled tonight with the American League Indians. Claude Osteen, young Cincinnati rookie, will get a chance to pitch.

HELD IN ROBBERY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Winfred Rippey, 23, Charleston, S. C., accused of robbing the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. at Des Plaines, Ill., of $1,778 Friday, was arrested here Sunday. FBI agents said the getaway car was traced here. A second suspect, identified as Charles Kern, 40, also of South Carolina, is still being sought, agents said.

Third Week of Debate Opened By Senate On Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate starts a third week of debate on the administration's civil rights bill today with supporters vowing to keep its right-to-vote provisions intact.

Their expressed determination on this point coincided with mounting indications that only a last-minute compromise could save another section aimed at strengthening the enforcement of all civil rights.

All sides seemed to be in agreement, however, that an old Reconstruction era law permitting the President to use the armed forces to carry out court orders in civil rights cases should be repealed.

Sens. Knowland (R-Calif.) and Humphrey (D-Minn.), leaders in the fight for the civil rights bill, joined in offering an amendment to do this. The amendment is expected to be voted on during the day.

Adoption of this amendment would be the first Senate change in the bill passed by the House.

It also would represent a concession to Southern senators who protested that, under the wording of the bill, the old troop-authority law could be used to force school integration and other mixing of the races on the South "at bayonet point."

The bill's supporters replied that President Eisenhower had made clear there was no intention of using troops to enforce the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision.

They accused the Southerners of throwing up a "smoke-screen" argument, but they said they had no objection to repealing the old law.

In the Senate debate so far, the principal controversy has centered about Part 3 of the bill. This would authorize the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of civil rights in general.

"Similar authority is provided in another section for the protection of voting rights. Under both sections, persons accused of disobeying injunctions obtained by the government could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court with a jury trial."

Sens. Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt.) have offered an amendment to strike out Part 3 of the bill, and present indications are that the Senate may vote on this tomorrow. If adopted, it would tend to limit the bill to enforcement of voting rights.

Administration leaders and Northern Democrats tried and failed last week to find some mutually acceptable substitute for Part 3 of the bill, but both Knowland and Humphrey said there was a possibility that a basis for agreement might yet be found.

The White House reportedly was urging Republican Senate leaders to renew their efforts to reach an agreement with the Northern Democrats before the Anderson-Aiken amendment is brought to a vote.

Knowland, the Senate GOP leader, said he was confident that efforts to write a jury trial amendment into the voting rights section of the bill, a major objective of Southern opponents of the legislation, would be defeated.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.), one of the Southern senators fighting to kill the whole bill, said during the weekend that the voting rights section "will probably remain as it is" in spite of attempts to require jury trials.

But Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), the Southerners' leader, said he would be "surprised" if a jury trial were not put in that section.

In a recorded radio interview with Rep. Keating (R-NY), Atty. Gen. Brownell reiterated his opposition to a jury trial amendment.

"It would do away with the traditional experience we have had in the country that when a court orders a thing to be done, then the court should have the power to enforce it," he said.

Brownell also made clear that the administration wants to retain in the bill at least limited federal sanctions to enforce school integration and other civil rights.

He said he would not favor any compromises aimed at "taking away or modifying civil rights that are guaranteed to all of our citizens by the Constitution."

He denied, however, that there was any intent on the part of the administration to "force" school integration.

Jaycees Hear Talk By State President

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — E. J. Plott of Canton, president of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce, told a meeting of district Jaycee officials here Sunday that Ohio's young men "must lead the way in opening the state's remaining economic frontiers."

Two challenges must be met if local communities are to profit in a 52 per cent business increase "we can reasonably expect by 1965," Plott asserted.

"We must improve our understanding of local business climates, and then convert that understanding into constructive action to improve our communities," he said.

He warned competition from other states will become increasingly intense during the coming years, and noted Ohio now is a second in the nation to New York. Plott linked a call for 20 per cent increase this year in Junior Chamber of Commerce membership to an appeal for more active leadership on the part of Ohio's young men.

The district meeting was attended by young men from Athens, Chillicothe, Circleville, Ironton, Jackson, Logan, Portsmouth and Waverly.

Girl, 17, Endures 40-Hour Ordeal In Crashed Plane

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP) — Complete recovery was predicted today for 17-year-old Judy Diehl, who endured 40 agonizing hours trapped in a crashed airplane with the bodies of her parents and a friend.

Dr. O. L. Seng said the Cozad, Neb., girl was in "fair condition" and "we expect complete recovery."

Judy suffered a fracture of the upper left leg, possible fractures of the lower legs, lacerations and abrasions when a light plane crashed 25 miles south of Bingham, Neb., Friday night.

The girl's foot was caught under a seat and she was forced to remain in the plane until she sighted a search plane overhead and waved a white scarf Sunday.

"We were amazed to find someone alive," said Don Christiansen, photographer of the Alliance (Neb.) Times-Herald, one of the first at the scene.

Christiansen said the bodies of Judy's father Merritt Diehl, 45, and of the pilot, Milo German, 55, Cozad plastics plant operator, were in the front seat. Judy's mother Carolyn, 45, was beside the girl in the rear of the plane.

Judy, in "surprisingly good condition" when rescuers reached her, said she did not remember the plane crashing. She said that upon waking up "I knew the others were dead."

She had only a banana to eat during the long hours, but was able to use a belt buckle to open a canned beverage and to "catch some rain water" to drink.

the myth of "greater selection out of town"

The dictionary defines a myth as "a thing whose existence is imaginary." And nothing is more imaginary than the idea that if you shop in some BIG CITY many miles from here you will have a wider choice of merchandise than in our local stores.

True, the metropolitan stores may show more individual items, but they're more of the same! In some cases they may not even have as much variety as your hometown merchants.

And when it comes to style, our storekeepers are just as up to the minute as their big-town brethren. That's because they send buyers to the same markets! The big stores have no monopoly on sources of supply.

When you compare local prices with those of out-of-town stores, don't forget what it costs you in gasoline, oil, car depreciation, parking fees and other expenses when you drive long distances. What might seem like a saving often turns into a loss.

HERE'S HOW YOU BENEFIT BY DOING ALL YOUR SHOPPING LOCALLY

When you buy from your hometown merchants you get:

1. HONEST VALUES
2. AMPLE SELECTION
3. INSTANT DELIVERY, SERVICE AND ADJUSTMENT
4. MORE PERSONAL AND FRIENDLIER TREATMENT
5. SAVING OF TIME
6. RELIEF FROM COSTLY TRAVEL
7. FREEDOM FROM ROAD HAZARDS
8. ELIMINATION OF COSTLY PARKING PROBLEMS
9. AVOIDANCE OF JOSTLING CROWDS
